

Annual John B. Amos Lecture to Focus on Lung Cancer Screening and Management

The annual program in the John B. Amos Lectureship Series will be held Thursday, May 15, 7:30-9 a.m., in Columbus, Ga. This CME program is designed for physicians, nurses and other clinicians interested in enhancing their knowledge on this topic.

The program will be held at the Cunningham Conference Center at Columbus State University, 3100 Gentian Blvd., in Columbus. A breakfast buffet will open at 7:30 a.m. and the program will begin at 8 a.m.

The keynote speaker is Betty C. Tong, MD, MHS, Assistant Professor of Cardiovascular and Thoracic Surgery at Duke University Medical Center. Dr. Tong will speak on "Lung Cancer: Current Practices in Screening and Management." Peter A. Seirafi, MD, FACS, will conclude the program with an update on lung cancer screening at the John B. Amos Cancer Center. Dr. Seirafi is Medical Director of Thoracic Surgery and the Lung Cancer Screening Program at the John B. Amos Cancer Center at Columbus Regional Health.

The program is free. Reservations are required by Tuesday, May 13. To reserve your place, please call (706) 321-6730.

The Medical Center designates this lecture for a maximum of 1 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

The John B. Amos Lectureship Series, introduced in 2011 and made possible through the generous support of Daniel P. and Kathelen V. Amos, enables the John B. Amos Cancer Center to bring nationally recognized oncologists and other specialists to Columbus to share the latest advances in cancer diagnosis and treatment.
